PAYING INDIANS TREATY MONEY

Blackfeet Receive Annual Stipend from Government. -- Are Busy Spending and Celebrating

The annual payment of treaty money to the Indians started on Tuesday and has kept Agent Gooderham and his staff busy since. The red brothers are happy spending their money in the stores and generally having a good time.

The paying of the treaty money to the Indians has become quite an ordinary affair in Gleichen, but to newcomers it is always interesting.

Nearly a month ago Postmaster Ramsbottom received through the mail for Agent G. H. Gooderham twenty-one thousand crisp new one dollar Dominion government bank notes. When Mr. Gooderham received them he had them carefully stored away in the Bank of Commerce vault, where they remained until Monday, when a portion of them were removed to the agency safe just across the C.P.R. track on the Blackfoot reserve.

At daybreak Tuesday morning the Agent with his staff of clerks, took the big "wal" in a demarcation, and, escorted by Corporal Irvine, of the Royal North-West Mounted Police and his scouts, rode to the South Camp, distant about twelve miles. Here all the Indians of the east end of the reserve were congregated, and the work of paying out of the green backs one at a time commenced, until every Indian—man, woman and child—had ten of the nice, crisp paper bills, and the chiefs each had twenty-five of them. Returning to town that evening, the work of paying the rest of the Indians the same amounts was resumed yesterday morning until the whole of $21,000 had disappeared under the blankets of the red people.

Now, if any one thinks it all fun to hand out this money they may well dissuade themselves of that notion immediately by asking them selves how they would like to count out that amount, and before they are long it over make sure you know the several hundred Indians by their names and that they are not joshing you about the number of children they have—for the Indians do love a little joke, especially on their white brothers. Would you be quite sure that Running Rabbit was Wolf Etter's son, or that Hile in the Bush was a daughter of Yellow Horse, or Slow Coming Over the Hill was father of Little Axe; or might you not get mixed up in the paposes of Sun Giff, Poksapa, Owl, Pokopa, Sapenaka? Are you quite sure that some of these could not appear several times for their treaty money.

But the fun for the tenderfoot is on so soon as the Indian gets his money, for there is no telling how they will spend their money. Some start immediately for the stores to buy some dainty edibles, clothing, beads, etc. Others like to get away alone to count it over and gaze upon it. But you can count that several of them have their horses tied handy and are ready for a race. This year most of them made for the South Camp where three restaurants were ready to serve them and a race track laid out for their pleasure, and for the next few days they will race and have a general good time.

In town the storekeepers awaited their arrival with a gaily display of blankets, dress goods, men's suits, overcoats, hats, handkerchiefs, beads, brass ornaments, etc., and the general merchant does not forget to have a boiler of hot tea always on the stove, and a box of crackers for him to chew while he sizes up the tempting array of goods.

In a week or two at most the Indians will have parted with their $21,000 and will be looking forward to the next treaty—for the Indian never looks backward on time.

Town Council Meeting

There was a short meeting of the Town Council on Monday evening, Alderman Service occupying the chair in the absence of Mayor Bray. Councillors McKay, Leggatt, Yates and Gaudaur were present.

A report was read from the Health Officer, and on motion of Aids. Leggatt and Gaudaur was accepted and filed.

The time having arrived to appoint a returning officer for the coming municipal elections, the secretary read a by-law he had prepared, and Aids. Leggatt and McKay moved that it be enacted that Peter MacLean be appointed returning officer for the ensuing election, and the adoption of the by-law upon its being read a first, second and third time.

A number of accounts being received, Aids. Leggatt and McKay moved that the following, as endorsed by the finance committee, be passed: F. C. Vigar, $31.50; W. Service, $1; McKay Hardware, $4; L. Simonin, $2.

Angus McLeay appeared before the Council to ask permission to raise the sidewalk in front of the new Padley block and replace same level with the remainder of the sidewalk and extend it two feet to the building line of the new block. He was granted privilege to do so at his own expense.

The secretary was instructed to write the Divisional Superintendent of the C. P. R. at Medicine Hat regarding a grant from his company to the town for police service at the station as this entailed a considerable burden on the town.

Before adjourning, a general discussion was indulged in regarding the work of next year, and the approaching election. It was shown that of the present Council only Aldermen McKay and Gaudaur would remain for the next term, leaving a mayor and four councillors to be elected. It was stated that the town's affairs were now in a much better condition than they have been in for two or three years past, and with a conservative council, next year would see the town well out of difficulty, providing no great expense was added. All appeared convinced that the first and most important work of the new council would be the drilling of another well to obtain sufficient water to supply the entire town. The water supply was pretty thoroughly discussed, and all agreed it would be well to get the opinions of the best experts obtainable on the matter before drilling again. It was thought that with another well the cost of pumping would be greatly decreased as at present there is only a certain amount coming into the well each day, and the engines have to be operated continually to pump this, but with an ample supply of water, all that is required could be pumped in a few hours each day, thus saving fuel and wages.

The many friends of Gordon Walker will be pleased to learn that he was released last Thursday from the Lethbridge jail where he was sentenced to two years charged with stealing some horses, along with another Wm. Boyce. Walker had only put in about nine months of his term, but owing to his good behavior and the efforts of his friends the Minister of Justice at Ottawa ordered his release. At the time of sentence all who knew him deeply regretted the severe sentence on the young fellow and when his father heard of it three months later he immediately came to Gleichen from Ontario and found many willing friends to assist with a petition and otherwise to get his boy out. The father and son arrived in Gleichen Saturday evening and were greeted by many friends. Mr. Walker left Monday for the east and Gordon will follow him home so soon as he can round-up his horses here and dispose of them.

J. A. Ramsay, of the busy store, has our thanks for the first calendar received for 1914. The scene is laid in the Peace River country and depicts an Indian dance at its height, in the midst of which an officer of the R. N. W. M. P. arrives, and "Single-Handed" (the title of the picture) arrests one of the Indian chiefs for some misdemeanor he has committed. The picture is by Russell, the famous American artist, and the original painting was sold in Winnipeg during the Stampede for $2,000.00. Mr. Ramsay is one of those who believe nothing is too good for his customers, and he certainly is treating them right in this calendar for 1914.

George M. Grieves was in from Major on Tuesday and stated he had finished hauling in his wheat crop of this year, which amounted to about 26,000 bushels. He says that all that section around Major is good grain land, and doubts if it can be excelled in any part of Alberta. The crops thereabouts were all good, and very little grain was raised that did not grade No. 1. The price was low this year but he was pleased to see it had raised two cents that day.

Two Calgary men, Samuel Gorman, salesman for the National Land Co., and C. Deacon, a well known chauffeur, were hurt in a bad automobile smash on the Crowfoot trail, a little east of Crowfoot, on Saturday afternoon, when the Oldsmobile special, in which they were on a trip from Medicine Hat to Calgary turned a complete somersault when the distance rolled broke.

Skating has started on the sloughs and already the hockey fiend is heard.

Hockey Meeting Next Tuesday

All sports are urged to attend a meeting next Tuesday evening in Marshall's studio. The purpose of the meeting is to organize a Hockey Club. A large attendance is especially necessary so that an active, capable set of officers may be chosen.

Monday evening a meeting of the hockey fans was held and business matters considered. Some of the outstanding bills from last season were presented, but as the club's books were not at the meeting, and as no one present appeared to have more than a hazy idea either as to receipts or expenditures last season, no action in that regard could be taken.

However, an important matter was settled, arrangements being made whereby the rink was leased for the season to Jack Burr and Dr. Wainwright. These gentlemen are going to open the rink just as soon possible, and state that they intend to run it "right." There will be plenty of light, and good ice. A well-heated waiting room for ladies will be another feature. Season tickets will be $5, children's tickets $2.50.

The Oddfellows are preparing for a special meeting in the Masonic hall on Monday, December 1st, when a big number of candidates are to be initiated by a degree team from Calgary. All members and visitors are requested to be present.

Wm. Brown, who was taken to Calgary on Wednesday of last week suffering with typhoid fever, died in the hospital there on Thursday. He had been working under Foreman Jack Manahan for the P. Burns Co., and his many friends deeply regret to learn of his demise. He was a hardworking man and liked by all who knew him.

Tuesday morning Justice F. C. Vigar fined two men $5 each for being drunk and disorderly and a third was given five days at snow shovelling as Chief Roberts explained he had taken care of him Saturday night and let him go with the advice to find work, but he found him drunk again Monday night. Then the Chief added we needed someone to sweep the snow off the sidewalks and the J. P. though five days shovelling snow a good thing to sober up on.

A week or more ago a man who has resided in Gleichen for some months was sentenced to one year in jail for refusing to support his wife and two children and an orphan niece of his wife whom he had brought out from England and in four months had given her only a little over $60 towards their support. When she wrote him at Bassano for more money, he replied with a most brutal letter that he would send her no money or have anything to do with her. In her trouble the police became interested and the severe sentence followed. This is the first case of desertion to come before the Gleichen authorities, and let us hope it may be the last. It is seldom in the West that such men are found, although, with all nationalities coming here, the wonder is that more of these degenerates do not steal into our prosperous country. Steps are being taken to aid the woman and her children to return to her home in England in accordance with her wishes. For her sake and the little ones, the CALL withholds the names.

He must know something from what he said to me when he came to tell me about Jean. I will go to this place where he told me to write to him, and I will make him tell me."

MAKING MOTION PICTURE FILMS

One Company Spends $50,000 a Year Just to Robe its Various Productions

Every frequenter of the motion picture theatres must have been struck, at some time or another, by the luxuriance of the stage setting of most of the society dramas—the magnificence of the decorations, the richness of the furnishings, and the costliness of the dresses worn by the performers.

Few, however, have any real conception of the huge cost of these things, or appreciate the pains taken by the big film producing companies to get the best of everything.

Take, for instance, the costume of the principal actresses. The capital of Europe are ransacked for the latest creations in millinery and modes.

When Miss Miriam Nesbit and Miss Mary Fuller were last over here with the Edison Company, they paid a visit to Paris for the purpose of purchasing a stock of such things for future Edison productions, and in two days' shopping they spent more than $15,000.

Miss Lottie Briscoe, the Lubin-star actress, recently played in a film which necessitated no fewer than fourteen changes of costume, each costing on an average about $75, and she needs when on tour, twenty trunks for her wardrobe.

Miss Gene Gauntier wears one set of furs in the film that cost $4,000, and she has other sets almost equally as valuable. Miss Asta Neilson is credited with being the most expensively dressed actress in the pictures.

Frequently her costumes in the society scenes in which she specializes will cost as much as $500 apiece.

It might be thought that as the actual dresses worn by the performers are not seen by the public, but only the photographic representations of them, that common material or imitation stuff would do as well as the real articles.

But, as a matter of fact, this is far from being the case. Indeed, the very reverse holds good. To get a really first-class photograph, first-class properties must be provided.

In the early days of the picture play business this was not properly realized, and a company that laid out $5,000 on a collection of properties, although expecting them to last for years, was considered extravagant.

Nowadays, on the other hand, it would be a very cheap affair that would start with less than $15,000 or $20,000 worth; while one of the best known of the really big film companies is reported to spend as much as $50,000 every year in dressing—or, as it is technically termed, "robing" its shows.

The Desire to Disagree

There are those who seem to be born with the instinct to disagree. I have in mind at this moment one such person.

I have heard him express emphatically a certain opinion and then, perhaps a day or two later, I have heard him denounce the same opinion expressed in his presence by someone else.

Sometimes, of course, this kind of thing is done by those who love argument for the sake of the intellectual exercise. But in this instance it was due simply and solely to the love of disagreeing.

If we did not spend so much time in trying to disagree, if we did not torment ourselves with the ill feeling that accompanies the will to disagree, we should be surprised at the strange improvement in the people and in the world about us.

We should find that, through persistent self assertion, instead of gaining we lost.

We should also discover that through resisting the desire to disagree, through giving people as good a chance to express themselves as we long to give ourselves, we should exert a far greater influence than we do now, and we should be heard often and with more profit.—From "Intimations," by John D. Barry, Paul Elder & Company, Publishers.

Shortly after a new administration took hold of a well-known southern railroad a great number of claims were preferred against the company on account of horses and cattle being killed along the line in Kentucky. To make matters worse it appeared that every animal killed, however worthless it may have been before the accident, invariably figured in the claims subsequently presented as being of the best blood in Kentucky.

One day in conversation with one of the road's attorneys, the president became very much excited in referring to the situation. Do you know, he exclaimed, bringing down his fist on the desk by way of emphasis, I have reached the conclusion that nothing in Kentucky so improves live stock as crossing it with a locomotive.

Amusing the Editor

A village cricket match was in the course of progress. The fielding side were for a time a man short, and a farm-laborer was pressed into service. A ball was hit in the substitute's direction, and to the surprise of the spectators in general, and of himself in particular, he made the catch. The following Saturday he anxiously scanned the local papers for a record of his feat, and was greatly disappointed to find it reported as "caught sub."

What's this "ere caught sub?" he asked a friend.

Why, don't you know, Bill? That means "twore a accident," was the reply.

The editor of the paper was amused next morning by the following note:

Dear sir.—You say in yore paper as 'ow I cort a man out in last Saturday's match by accident. I mite summons you for libel, only I shant, but if you should 'appen to get a clump on the nose one of these odd days, you'll know it was Bill Wiggins as done it, and it won't be no sub, neither.

Cremation shows a marked increase in Europe. Last year there were 7,555 cremations in Germany, as against 6,500 in 1910.

PRESIDENT SUSPENDER

ON ONE SO EASY

Not a Fair Bargain

At the annual fair at a small town in Russia a man observed a gipsy and a Pole haggle over the sale of a horse. When the transaction was over he asked the gipsy how much he had got for the animal. The gipsy opened his hand and showed a ten-rouble note—worth $5.

But isn't that very cheap?

No, said the gipsy. The horse is lame.

The man then sought out the Pole, to whom he said: You have given ten roubles for a lame horse.

The Pole smiled knowingly, and remarked: He is as sound as you or I. I saw he was badly shod, and that was all.

The enquirer returned to the gipsy and reported what the Pole had said. Then, with a significant wink, the gipsy whispered:

He's as lame as a two-legged stool! I made him badly shod on purpose to make people believe that that was the cause of his limp.

When the Pole was told this he seemed for a moment taken back and lunged his head; then he heaved a sigh and shrugged his shoulders.

Ah, well, he said, it's all right; it was a bad ten-rouble note.

Henry James, the American novelist, lives at Rye, one of the Cinque Ports, but recently he left Rye and took a house in the country near the estate of a millionaire jam manufacturer, retired. This man, having married an earl's daughter, was ashamed of the trade whereby he had plied up his fortune.

The jam manufacturer one day wrote Mr. James an impudent letter vowing that he was outrageous the way the James' servants were trespassing on his grounds. Mr. James wrote back:

Dear Sir—I am very sorry to hear that my servants have been poaching on your preserves.

P.S.—You'll excuse my mentioning your preserves, won't you?

The Rev. Dr. John Wesley Hill, of New York, told the following story the other night in illustration of a point he wished to make:

I am reminded, he said, of the Irishman whose alarm clock stopped running. He shook it, but it would not run. He waited but it did not improve, and then one day he took the back out of it, looked in, and saw a dead cockroach. Shure enough, said he, I've discovered the difficulty. The engineer I—dead!

To the long list of "less" things, as the seedless orange, the fireless cooker and the trackless trolley, an Ohio horticulturist claims to have added the odorless onion. It may be so. It may look like an onion and taste like an onion, but can it be an onion still without its odor?

Long Standing Asthma.—Many have suffered so long from asthma and have tried so many so-called remedies they think that there is no real help for them. They should read the letters received by the manufacturers of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy from thousands of cases once as desperate as their own. Even in long-neglected cases this famous preparation brings prompt help.

Eyeglasses and Royalty

According to an American paper, the King of Sweden is probably the only monarch ever known to wear eyeglasses and spectacles on State occasions. In point of fact, both eyeglasses and spectacles are very rare among Royalties of today. This certainly is true of our own Royal family, no member of which (unless we include the present Duke of Cumberland) has ever employed any aid to vision.

Pat's Excuse

Pat was late again. Somehow or other, try as he would, he did not seem able to get to work on time, and worst of all, his stock of excuses had just about given out. The foreman was eloquent in his denunciation, and his sarcasm unlimited. Well, he snarled, nine o'clock. What d'yer mean by comin' in at this time, eh?

It's a wonder a man o' your means troubles about comin' at all. Now, then, trot another excuse out.

Put thought hard for a moment and at last the excuse came:

Eure, sor, said he, I framed last night that I was at the football match, an it ended in a draw. So th' referee offered an extra half-hour to be played, and begorra, sor, I had to stop an' see the finish.

A Different Gift

An artist relates that a betrothed lover commissioned him to paint a certain secluded spot in the rocks on the shore, because there he had declared his passion.

The picture, was painted, but before it was done the lover said to the artist:

Of course, I will see you through on that picture, but my engagement is off and naturally it would be painfully suggestive to me. If you can sell it to somebody else I will take another picture and be extremely obliged besides.

The painter assented to the arrangement, but within a week his patron presented himself.

It's all right, he announced. I will take that picture.

Am I to congratulate you on the renewal of your engagement? the artist asked.

The other seemed a little confused, but quickly recovered his self-possession, and laughed as he said:

Well, not exactly: It was the same place, but the girl was different.

Stomach Troubles and Weakness of Kidneys Cured by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

There is an enormous amount of suffering from liver and kidney derangements and stomach troubles that could easily be avoided by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. If you could only realize the scores of everyday ills that arise from a sluggish condition of the kidneys, liver and bowels you would not be long in giving this medicine a trial.

Mrs. Edward Stewart, New Richmond, West, Que., writes: "I want to tell you how thankful I am for using your Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for stomach troubles and backache caused by weak kidneys. I was unable to wash any clothes for over two years on account of my back being lame. I read the Almanac and began using these pills. Two boxes made a complete cure. I can do my own washing and any other work now and want to say to lady friends that they do not know how much I appreciate Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills."

Love of Canada

There was the smell of rain and of quickening earth in the air, and a few duck flew over, making no sound. Tempest stood still to watch them go. Then he looked out across the land which was so dear to him with the old light shining in his eyes.

Presently he spoke with a half laugh and a half break of love in the words:

To love you isn't enough, he said, God grant we're ready to suffer and work for you—Canada.

The telephone bell rang in the consulting room of a doctor who was an enthusiastic motorist. In his absence the assistant answered it, and said the doctor was out.

Will you tell him, the voice asked, that Mr. Thompson has a gymkhana coming on, and wants to know if he can do anything for it?

I will tell him the moment he comes in, the assistant answered; meanwhile put a bread poultice on it, and renew it every two hours.

A teacher in a tenement district hurried from the school to find the mother of a pupil who had been taken ill.

Can you show me where Mrs. Angelo Scandale lives? she inquired of a cherub transplanted from the sunny south to a dark, sunless alley.

Yes, teacher, I show you, and a willing stick hand dragged her on with such speed as to make her stumble over an Italian dame seated on the threshold.

After the teacher's breathless flight toward the clouds the little hand stopped tugging.

There where Mees Scandale live, indicated the horizontal arm and finger, but she downstairs sitting on the step, brushed the smiling lips.

The Worth of Gardening

The people of our country should see to it that the grounds around and about their homes, their schools, their parks and all private and public places are made as beautiful as it is possible to make them within the bounds of good taste and economy, says the Canadian Horticulturist.

To a great extent travellers and tourists estimate the prosperity and civilization of a country or community by the homes and public places of its people as these things betray the ideals of comfort and beauty. It is important therefore, to make the appearance of our homes attractive and impressive.

Compare a residence in the town or country that stands bleak and alone on a bare plain or stark cold against the sky, with one backed by a grove and surrounded with well-chosen shrubbery and flowers, tastefully arranged. The contrast is obvious. The first is nothing more than a house, the latter may be fittingly termed a home.

The travelling public recognize the force of the contrast and are impressed by it. Such an impression is not temporary, especially when it is not a pleasant one. The critical tourist is more apt to retain and speak about the bad features of the country than he is to applaud the points of excellence. To obviate bad impressions, it is necessary to make the good features prominent and striking. All patriotic citizens should do their part in stimulating this means of national advertising.

For the Collection

Mrs. Murphy was getting the supper for the children on Saturday night when a young woman came to her door.

I'm a collector for the Drunkards' Home, she said. Could you help us? Come around tonight and I'll give you Murphy, said the housewife as she went about her work.

Cholly—Is this horse intelligent, me good fellow?

Groom—Very! Look out he don't kick you, sir!

PILLAR OF FIRE 600 FEET HIGH

Moses' and Aaron's Nightly Guide Post to be Imitated at Tulsa Dry-Farming Congress

"And there went before them by night a pillar of fire to give them light."—Ex. XIII, 21.

For the first time in history, since that marvelous light brought the people of Israel out of bondage, another pillar of fire will be used to call the people of the world from labor to refreshment at Tulsa.

The largest gas well in the world is located within a few miles of Tulsa. It is being piped into the middle of the exposition grounds used by the International Dry-Farming Congress. It flows thirty million cubic feet of natural gas daily and when it is turned loose and lighted on the night of October 22 the visitors and delegates to the Congress will witness a sight that for awe inspiring magnificence has never been equaled.

Six hundred feet straight into the air the gas is shot by nature's force below. Its noise is like that of an avalanche, its power that of the cyclone. It will be controlled and ignited by electricity from a distance of two hundred yards or more on account of the heat it creates.

No flame can be seen until the gas reaches the height of a ten-story building. Above that a solid pillar of fire five hundred feet in height and a hundred feet thick will illumine the exposition grounds and the city of Tulsa as no city was ever lighted in the history of the world. Sha-ows will be cast of people and things five miles away. The flame itself may be seen for a hundred miles.

Gas is cheap in Oklahoma. The average gas light in the average home uses but a few cubic feet of gas in an hour. The great gas light at Tulsa will burn fifteen million feet of gas a night. Nothing like it has ever been seen since Moses led his people out of Egypt and into the promised land.

The Tulsa light will serve a similar purpose, for it will give to the world a message of agricultural hope and will point the way to farm prosperity in all states and nations through the teachings of the International Dry-Farming Congress, for whose meeting it is burned.

My dear, says the kind-hearted husband, I do not wish to say anything about our extravagant way of keeping house, but do you know it is a fact that the average French family lives on what the average American family wastes?

But, my angel, comments the helpful wife, that would be impossible. In the first place, the cost of sending it to France would be too great, and besides it would spoil before it got there.

Mrs. Stronghead had just thrown a paving stone through a drug store window merely proving that she was entitled to a vote, and had been marched off to jail.

Thank heaven! said Stronghead. That settles the wher-shall we spend the summer problem, anyhow.

Agreed

Jack is in love with you.

Nonsense.

That's what I said when I heard it. How dared you!

Simple and Sure.—Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil is so simple in application that a child can understand the instructions. Used as a liniment the only direction is to rub, and when used as a dressing to apply. The directions are so plain and unmistakable that they are readily understood by young or old.

She Got a Hen

Once upon a time runs a modern fable, a youth about to embark on the sea of matrimony, went to his father and said:

Father, who should be boss, I or my wife?

The old man smiled and said: Here are a hundred hens and a team of horses. Hitch up the horses, put the hens into the wagon, and wherever you find a man and his wife dwelling stop and enquire who is the boss, wherever you find a woman running things leave a hen. If you come to a place where a man is in control, give him one of the horses.

After ninety-nine hens had been disposed of he came to a house and made the usual enquiry.

I'm boss of this farm, said the man.

So the wife was called, and she affirmed her husband's assertion.

Take which horse you want.

I'll take the bry.

But the wife did not like the bay horse, and talked to him. He returned and said: I believe I'll take the grey.

Not much, said the young man. You get a hen.

There's no Place Like—

Absurd! fumed the fussy commercial, as a fellow-breakfaster entered the coffee-room. Don't know what these hotels are comin' to, I'm sure! I've been here the whole blessed week, and can't get anything of a morning but eggs—eggs—eggs.

But they are different eggs, observed his companion sadly tucking his napkin under his chin.

Well, of course they're different, snapped the fussy commercial.

The Herald Fiasco

The Calgary Herald's big out-of-town sale is over, and while it claims the sale a success, its contemporaries say it was a grand failure. Whether it was or was not a failure to the Herald and the Calgary stores matters little; but one thing is certain and that is, that it has hurt Calgary to no small extent, and also that it has hurt some of the out of town shoppers who went there. It has hurt the Calgary wholesale business most just now and the big retail stores have gotten a black-eye that will take a long time to reduce. Some of the women who went from Gleichen have since been counting the cost and state unreservedly that they gained nothing and were very sorry that they went. About the only thing in favor of such a trip was that they had a greater selection of goods to choose from, and saw Calgary. Except in a few rare instances the prices were as high or higher than here, and in many cases the goods were inferior. When they compared prices, added their hotel expenses and loss of time they were really out of pocket, besides being very tired and in some cases disgusted. One woman said that after purchasing the required amount of goods to get a free trip she was politely told that the store was waiting to get from the printer the necessary forms to fill in for her and would send them to her, but a man whom she took for a detective overheard her trouble and made the storekeeper come through with the form. She said that in order to get a free trip she bought goods she knew at the same price as she paid in Gleichen. One Indian said he saved $2 on an overcoat, but admitted he was over a year paying the Gleichen storekeeper for his last coat, and also that he got drunk and paid a fine as a result of his free trip to Calgary.

Calgary has had the reputation long enough of being the dearest city on the continent, and this little stunt won't help it any.

Mail Order Houses Buy Newspapers

The big departmental stores continue to extend their interests in or control of the daily newspapers in Toronto, Montreal, and Winnipeg. A large interest in, if not the control of, another Toronto daily has just been acquired. This makes three dailies in Toronto in which these mail order houses are financially interested. In Montreal it came out in legal proceedings recently that one of the oldest daily papers there had passed into the hands of the chief owner of a rising mail order house which aims to monopolize the trade in Eastern Canada. There are now nine dailies in Toronto, Montreal and Winnipeg, which are known to be owned or controlled by the big store interests, and while posing as the mediums of public opinion are the organs of these interests. The trade of these houses has grown enormously in these cities where these dailies circulate, but in other cities and smaller places where there are good local papers, they have not made the same gains, because the local papers are well edited and are loyal to their local merchants and refuse to carry the ad of the big city store.

The only way in which the big dailies can make headway is by cutting their subscription prices. They get $3 to $5 a year in Toronto, Montreal and Winnipeg, but sell in other cities at 50c to $1 a year. This does not pay for even the white paper on which these newspapers are printed, but the heavy deficits are made up by subsidies through big advertising contracts and in other ways, and by the low postal rates. The merchants and newspapers outside of these three big centers should get together and insist that no newspaper should get together and insist that no newspaper should have the privilege of the mails which has a lower subscription price outside than in the center in which it is published.—The Dry Goods Review.

Alberta Butter Wins Prizes in East.

Alberta butter, manufactured by the Markerville and Innisfail creameries, this year carried off first, second and third prizes at the Central Canada fair held at Ottawa, and the Trade Bulletin of Montreal, referring to the incident says:—

"We have often referred to the large number of cattle, more especially milch cows, that have been purchased in this province and Ontario for shipment to Alberta and Saskatchewan during the past year or two and we have also referred to the new creameries that are springing up in both the above provinces, as well as in Manitoba. This no doubt, is one of the causes of the demand for our eastern creamery butter falling off. And now that Albertan butter, manufactured by the Markerville and Innisfail creameries has carried off first, second and third prizes at the Canada Central Exhibition, its full significance is understood, and the reason for consumers in the northwest ordering so much less of our choice eastern townships creamery is now accounted for. The twelve cars of butter shipped from here last week for Western Canada consisted chiefly of early made goods held here for owners' account. But whether the United States will take the place of the Northwest remains to be seen." D. Morkeberg is proprietor of the winning creameries.

GET YOUR CANADIAN HOME FROM THE CANADIAN PACIFIC

Wonderfully fertile land is offered for sale by the Canadian Pacific Railway Company at prices ranging from $11 to $30 per acre. There is no better agricultural land than this virgin Canadian soil. It is unsurpassed for all forms of agriculture, including grain growing, stock raising, dairying, poultry culture, vegetable growing, and general mixed farming. The lands are convenient to railways and markets, and are located in a country of low taxation and delightful climate.

TWENTY YEARS TO PAY

Under the Company's new policy no land is sold to speculators, but only to those who will occupy and improve it. The terms of sale are now one-twentieth cash and the balance spread over twenty years, with interest at six per cent per annum.

ASSISTANCE TO FARMERS

Under certain conditions the Company will advance a loan of $2000 to new settlers to be used in erecting a house and barn, fencing the land and sinking a well. This loan is repayable on the same terms as the purchase price.

Jack Bayne's Brother Accidentally Killed

Much sympathy has been extended to John Bayne, foreman of the Two-Bar ranch, north of Gleichen, since it was learned of the death of his brother early last month. The Journal of Emerson, Man., gives the following report of the inquest held there:

The inquest conducted by Coroner Wallace relating to the recent train wreck at Letellier was concluded Thursday evening of last week, when the jury brought in their verdict as follows: "William Alexander Bayne came to his death at midnight between the 6th and 7th days of October, 1913, at the village Letellier, Man., by the wreck of Northern Pacific passenger train No. 13. They do further say that said wreck was due to a broken rail, and that the said broken rail was the result of an accident, and they do not find any negligence on the part of the railroad Company or, of any or more of their employees. But they consider that from the evidence given by the railway officials at this inquest that the rails are too light for the weight of traffic on said railroad.

Surprise Party

George Mace was taken by surprise last Wednesday evening (Nov. 12th), when a number of friends gathered at the home of his parents south of the reserve. The evening was spent in playing games and singing. Mrs. Gale Fouts, of Oregon, entertained the guests with many musical numbers, which were greatly appreciated. Mrs. Fouts is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Mace.

At 11:30 George was seated in the center of the room, and as the lights were turned low, there appeared a Ghost. Not long did it take the mysterious creature to find its prey; then standing over its victim, the wings dropped and the "mystic one" disappeared. George was showered with many hose, handkerchiefs, and neckties. George was forced to count the many presents and found it to be a lengthy task.

At midnight the hostess directed the merry crowd to sit around the room for lunch, which consisted of fried chicken, creamed potatoes, potato salad, fruit salad, fruits, tea and coffee. It may have seemed like a "lunch" to those at the Mace home, but to those who had autoed out from Gleichen that evening, it seemed a dinner fit for a king.

Wishing George many good wishes and heartily thanking Mr. and Mrs. Mace for the hospitality, the happy crowd adjourned at a late hour. The guests enjoyed the evening very much and would be more than pleased to spend another such evening at the Mace home. G.W.

An Ottawa despatch says that an enormous increase in the consumption of cigarettes in Canada is shown by the figures compiled by the statistical branch of the inland revenue department. These figures show that during the months of July, August and September, there were smoked 319,446,180 cigarettes, which is roughly speaking, an average of four packages for every man, woman and child within the confines of the Dominion. It is an increase of more than 50 millions over the corresponding months in 1912. The increase is believed to be the highest per capita of any year the department has a record of.

Two of a Kind

A private in the regulars went to the colonel of his regiment and asked for a two weeks' leave of absence. The colonel was a severe disciplinarian, who did not believe in extending too many privileges to his men and did not hesitate to use a subterfuge in evading the granting of one.

Well, said the colonel, what do you want a two weeks' furlough for?

Patrick answered: Me wife is very queer and the children are not well, and, if ye didn't mind, she would like to have me home for a few weeks to give her a bit of assistance.

The colonel eyed him for a few minutes and said:

Patrick, I might grant your request, but I got a letter from your wife this morning saying she didn't want you home; that you were a nuisance whenever you went there. She hopes I won't let you have any more furloughs.

That settles it! Oh, suppose I can't get the furlough, then? said Pat.

No, I'm afraid not, Patrick.

Colonel, can I say somethin' to ye?

Certainly, Patrick; what is it?

You won't get mad, colonel? If I say it?

Certainly not, Patrick. What is it?

Oh, I want to say there are two splendid lars in this room. Oh, was never married in me life.

Many children die from the assaults of worms, and the first care of mothers should be to see that their infants are free from these pests. A vermifuge that can be depended on is Miller's Worm Powders. They will not only expel worms from the system, but act as a health-giving medicine and a remedy for many of the ailments that beset infants, enfeebling them and endangering their lives.

Farmer's Wife—Now, then, you just clear out. When I gave you a splendid pair of boots a month ago, you promised me you wouldn't trouble me again.

Persistent Peter—Neither would I, mum, only the boots 'ave worn out, so I thought I'd ask you if you'd mind havin' 'em soled and 'eeled for me?

Now, Tommy, said Mrs. Bull, I want you to be good while I am out.

I will be good for a nickel, replied Tommy.

Tommy, she said, I want you to remember that you cannot be a son of mine, unless you are good for nothing.

He Found Out

The little agricultural village was billed with 'Lecture on Keats' for over a fortnight. The evening arrived at length, bringing the lecturer ready to discourse on the poet.

The advertised chairman, taken ill at the last moment, was replaced by a local farmer. This worthy introduced the lecturer, and terminated his remarks by saying:

And now, my friends, we shall soon know what I personally have often wondered—what are Keats?

An electric process for keeping the hulls of ships free from barnacles has been invented. Boats fitted with the apparatus, it is claimed, will never be hampered in speed by barnacles, and the life of the ship's hull will be longer.

Uses for Sawdust

Not so very long ago about the only real use anyone had for sawdust was for packing ice. That was when small local sawmills were more common, and the amount of this form of waste wood was, at any rate appeared, comparatively small. Now, when the tendency is to consolidate these into large mills with a capacity of several hundred thousand feet of lumber per day, the daily waste in sawdust is seen to be enormous and much experimenting is being done to discover new methods of utilizing it.

Perhaps the most promising venture in sawdust utilization in this country is the manufacture of ethyl (or grain) alcohol. The sawdust is treated with sulphuric acid under suitable conditions, resulting in the formation of sugar, which is then fermented to produce alcohol. Several plants have been erected to produce alcohol from wood in this manner and though there are some difficulties still to be overcome, the ultimate success of the process on a commercial scale is assured.

Sawdust has been successfully manufactured into briquettes for fuel for a considerable time in Europe by a very simple process. The shavings and sawdust are first steam-dried, the water contained in the wood being thus evaporated and the resin almost liquified. The sawdust is then compressed under heat into briquettes of the desired size, the contained resin acting as a binder. A firm in Vancouver is engaged in a similar line of manufacture, the sawdust being compressed into a cylindrical tube, where it is cut into short lengths by a revolving knife, emerging in the form of small round briquettes. These briquettes are clean to handle, easy to kindle and leave very little ash.

In England sugar is manufactured on a commercial scale by treating sawdust in closed retorts with weak sulphurous acid under high pressure. In Austin, Texas, also a plant is being built to manufacture stock food from sawdust by a somewhat similar process. The tar, pitch and turpentine are removed from the sawdust, leaving only sugar and fibre to which is added 40 per cent of cottonseed meal. The mixture is sold for fattening cattle.

Two and one-half parts of clean sawdust mixed with two parts sand and one part cement make a warm, long-wearing and sound-proof floor, on which carpets can be tacked with less injury than to a board floor, and which has the advantage over a cement floor in being more elastic. These qualities should win an extensive use for this form of flooring, which has the additional advantage that it can be stained to harmonize with interior finishings by the addition of color to the mixture while in a semi-liquid state.

The sawdust of certain kinds of wood is used in considerable quantities by manufacturers for metal polish, for packing, for meat curing, for making safety explosives and composition novelties, and for fibre and pulp manufacture. Patent cleaning powders for use on carpets and rugs consist principally of sawdust, lightly moistened by some cheap mineral oil.

Gave the Hair Away

He was, so he gave forth at the seaside boarding-house, the only son of the mayor of an inland city, and he was simply rolling in money.

But what the mayor's son felt from the high pillar of fame on which his own glib tongue had placed him. It was this:—

One morning, whilst the boarders were at breakfast, the servant brought in the letters, and by mistake, handed a postcard to a gentleman of a similar name to that of the worthy mayor's son.

The gentleman read the postcard with a surprised look on his face, and then, glancing at the address, he handed it across the table.

I'm very sorry, he said; but I think this is meant for you.

The heir of unbounded wealth glanced at the postcard, blushed vividly, and left the table hurriedly. Ten minutes later he had taken his departure.

The postcard bore the following words:

Come back at once; the other janitor is ill.

Had Changed That

I have never told you, he said to her one evening, that long before I saw you fate had directed me to you.

Indeed, she responded, so sincerely that his heart beat faster and her face blushed at the compliment.

Yes, and it came about in a remarkable way. Just for fun one day I consulted an astrologer, and she told me that I would never care for any woman until I had met one who was then only a schoolgirl—a beautiful, golden-haired creature, with wonderful brown eyes. I laughed at the prophecy, but the words came true, for I never cared for any woman until I saw you.

Then he stopped, embarrassed, and palpitating, thinking she would fall in his arms.

Are you sure your astrological friend spoke of a golden-haired schoolgirl? she asked.

How could I ever forget? he responded.

You couldn't possibly, she replied; only when I was a schoolgirl I wasn't golden-haired.

And then a heavy weight seemed to fall on him as he staggered away.

A young Irishman was sent by his backers to a neighboring city to box with an athlete living there.

He was getting the worst of it, as his friends soon realized.

Come, brace up, Jim, cautioned one of his friends. Stop more of his blows.

Stop thim! the unfortunate Jim exclaimed. Do ye see any av thim gettin' by me?

FACTS TOLD ABOUT CANADA

Leo Scheff of the London Graphic

Gave interview in London

Leo Scheff, of the London Graphic, who has just completed a three months' tour of 25,000 miles from Coast to Coast in Canada, gives some remarkable facts as to the amazingly rapid expansion and commercial growth of Canada during the last twelve months. This was Mr. Scheff's fourth visit to Canada, and he used a motor so that he was able to go right into the heart of the country.

At the outset of the interview he referred to the development of innumerable small towns and villages, among which he instances Medicine Hat. Since his visit last year, the town boasts of having built one of the largest flour mills in Canada, from which it supplies enormous quantities of flour to China and Japan, the sacks being marked in Chinese and Japanese characters. Medicine Hat, he says, is but typical of the city that makes itself through an enterprising local government.

He regretted to notice that a majority of new factories were of American origin and thought it time that British manufacturers located in Medicine Hat, Moose Jaw, Winnipeg, Edmonton, Lethbridge, Regina, and other cities in Manitoba, Alberta and Saskatchewan. He also quotes the remarkable expansion of Melville, Saskatchewan, which seven years ago did not exist, and which today has a fine modern school.

Mr. Scheff is enthusiastic about the good work being carried on by a Home Reunion Association, which has dealt out loans with liberality and has not lost a single penny. He reverted once more to the opportunities that are being lost by British manufacturers as he found that British goods were far more popular there. There were openings, he said, for manufacturers of boots, flour, drugs, clothing, furniture and candles.

Quite Unusual

A commission in lunacy had called a woman before them as a witness.

And now, said the commission's counsel to her, what is your ground for claiming that the accused is insane?

The woman gulped, wiped her eyes and answered: Well, gentlemen, he took me to the theatre twice in one week. Each time we went in a taxicab; we had supper each time after the performance; and each time he bought me chocolates and flowers. He didn't go out to see a man between the acts either.

But, madam, said a commissioner, surely these actions do not prove insanity on the accused's part.

But you forget, sir, said the lady, with a sad smile—you forget that the accused is my husband.

A Cleveland lawyer tells how, during a trial, one of the jurors suddenly rose from his seat and fled from the courtroom. He was, however, arrested in his flight, before he had left the building, and brought back.

I should like to know what you mean by such an action as this, demanded the judge, in a lenient tone, however, as he knew the man, an elderly German, to be a simple, straightforward person.

Well, your honor, I will explain, said the juror. Van Mr. Jones finished with his talking my mind was clear all through, but when Mr. Smith begins his talking I become all confused again, already, and I say to myself, I better leave at once, and stay away until he is done, because your honor, to tell the truth, I didn't like der vay der argument was going.

Just on One Leg

It was the usual custom at Seaweed Farm for Mrs. Giles to wind up on the clock each Saturday evening. But one Saturday Mrs. Giles was on the sick list—nothing more serious than a slightly sprained ankle—and she found it impossible for her to move about the house.

So Giles was bidden to undertake the performance of her duties.

Now, Giles was short and fat. The kitchen mantel shelf was high. In order therefore to reach the clock which stood upon it, Giles was forced to requisition the services of a chair.

Laboriously he mounted it, while Mrs. Giles watched the manoeuvre in fear and trembling.

John, John, she cried, do be careful. That chair, you know, is none too strong. I'm sure it won't bear your weight.

Giles turned round and surveyed his spouse calmly.

Ay, ay, my dear, he said, it's quite all right; I'm only standing on one leg.

He—Private Jones just stood me a gingerbeer.

MALLPOX GERM

German Savant Claims to Have Found Disease Cause

The germ of smallpox, a protozoan so infinitesimal that it has passed through the minutest filters and escaped the trained gaze of microscopists for decades, has been discovered by Dr. Walter Fornet, staff physician at the Kaiser Wilhelm Academy.

Dr. Fornet claims not only to have discovered the germ, but to be able to propagate it. This means that it will henceforth not be necessary to inoculate a calf or cow with smallpox virus in order to secure lymph for vaccination, and consequently that a pure culture can be secured. The lymph won by present methods contains numerous bacteria which must be exterminated before it can be used for vaccination. What further Dr. Fornet's discovery may mean cannot yet be told, but it opens the way for experiments along hitherto unknown lines in the treatment of smallpox.

Apart from the possibility that Dr. Fornet's discovery may result in new methods of treating smallpox, it is important in that it will make possible the preparation of a pure vaccine virus which may lessen the ill results sometimes following vaccination, and thus deprive the German anti-vaccinationists, whose number is already considerable and steadily increasing, of much ammunition. The German law requires the vaccination of all children in first year and again in the twelfth, and is very rigorously enforced.

CHIEF CAUSE OF CRIMINALITY

No Man Totally Depraved, Says Pastor Russell.

THE SIN OF FATHER ADAM.

Born With Criminal Instincts, Life Is a Battle Against Them—There Is None Righteous; No Not One—Where Lies the Blame? The Value of a Correct Diagnosis—We Can Oppose Sin Best When We Know Its Origin—Aids and Disadvantages in Fighting Sin—Divine Help Necessary—How the Needful Is Provided.

Cumberland, Md.—Pastor Russell gave two discourses here today. We report one of them, on the text, "I was shapen in iniquity; and in sin did my mother conceive me." (Psalm 51:5.) He said:

Diagnosis is valuable in the attempted cure of any malady. This is true of sin-sickness, depravity, as of any other ailment of humanity. The better we understand the origin of sin and the methods of its operation in ourselves and in others, the more successful we shall be in combating it. We must know what helps to feed the ailment and what tends to destroy it.

Our forefathers erred, evidently, in their declaration of total depravity. None of us ever met a human being entirely depraved—entirely devoid of sympathy for righteousness and truth—entirely devoid of conscience. Experience, however, does corroborate the Bible statement that "there is none righteous no, not one"—all are sinners. Moreover, the Bible goes to the root of the matter; and experience corroborates its statement in our text—that we and all humanity were born in a state of sin, with the predilection or inclination toward sin.

We are not, however, to conclude that God made us sinners; for the Bible contradicts that thought, and assures us that "all His work is perfect." According to the Bible, we received our lives from our parents; and they theirs from their parents; and so back to Father Adam. The Bible tells us that our parents sinned, and came under the Divine sentence of death; and that this meant mental and moral, as well as physical, degeneracy. The Apostle declares, "By one man's disobedience sin entered into the world, and death by sin"—Romans 5:12.

This curse of death which came upon the race, and which affects us from the moment of birth, is a terrible blight. Even though it is much more reasonable than the curse declared by our mistaken creeds—the curse of eternal torment—nevertheless the curse of God is sufficiently terrible, and world-wide. The penalty, "Dying, thou shalt die," is much less horrible than it is made to be. "Living, thou shalt live in eternal torment." When, therefore, we find in ourselves and others wayward, sinful tendencies, we reflect that these are evidences of the fall, the curse, and that all who are under such influences are to be pitied. True pity, however, must not be sympathy with sin, but with the sinner, who is handicapped by the predisposition to sin. Sin calls for radical measures for its extermination for the release of the sinner; but our best efforts for them—and for others will be attained through a knowledge of the facts, and through the exercise of the proper sympathy. There are probably more people injured through lack of sympathetic help than are helped by the administration of cold-blooded justice without tenderness or sympathy. We have been slow to learn this lesson.

Undoubtedly as human sympathy expands through a knowledge of the facts, both parents and children will be blessed by that increase of knowledge. Parents need to learn that their own mental moods and sympathies with right or wrong serve to stamp, to birth-mark their children, either favorably or unfavorably. The parents of a vicious child should reflect that they had much to do with that viciousness. Properly informed and right-willed, they might have produced the child with a much more favorable organism. It requires a great deal of training to work out of the child's disposition that which was imbedded in it. Indeed, the probability is that only a small portion of it will ever be eradicated in this life. We are not forgetting the Scripture which says, "Who can bring a clean thing out of an unclean?" We remember this, and merely suggest that the imperfect sinner-child, shapen in iniquity and conceived in sin, may have more or less of sinful disposition. We are suggesting that a weighty responsibility rests upon parents in respect to the pre-natal influences exercised, as well as to their parental obligations after their children are born.

With what care, what loyalty to God and righteousness, what desire to maintain purity of heart and loveliness of character, the procreative powers should be exercised! With what care the father should surround the mother with every good influence helpful to her mental serenity, joy, peace, justice, reverence, love, during the period of gestation! What noble character might thus be born into the world, even though still imperfect, sin-stained! What a different world in many respects we might be living in to-day, if parents had recognized these principles and felt their responsibilities and lived up to them! Thank God, death does not end all; and the lessons now being learned through disappointments and tears will, we believe, in many instances prove profitable in the great hereafter.

This was the question asked of the Apostle Peter by those who heard him preach and heard that he was a sinner under condemnation. We should discern that the question is not, What shall we do to escape a nation, or condemnation? We were born in damnable sin, and are destined to death as surely as the Divine decree is that no sinner may have everlasting life. It is a gift of God, designed, not for sinners, but for those who are perfect, sinless. Adam was condemned to death as soon as he became a transgressor; and all of his children were born in the same condemned condition. Condemnation passed upon all men because all are sinners. All are imperfect, fallen. Our text tells us that they were born in this fallen, disapproved or condemned condition.

The question with us, then, is not, What shall we do to escape coming under condemnation? for the whole world is condemned already. (John 3:18.) The question is, How shall we, who are already condemned of God as unworthy of everlasting life, get free from that condition in which we were born and get back into that condition of perfection which God will approve, in which we should be accounted worthy of everlasting life?

The Bible answers our question. It tells us that God has had compassion upon our race and has provided the Saviour. It explains that for God to be just and yet grant forgiveness to a sinner requires that One should pay substitution for the sinner. Originally pronounced against Father Adam, this being effected, the Redeemer will have the right to restore to perfection Adam and all his posterity desirous of returning to God.

The Message respecting this glorious arrangement is called the Gospel—the Good Tidings that there is a way of return from sin to holiness and from condemnation to death back to justification of life.

As we have seen, the needful for all who desire to return to God's favor is that they may be restored to that condition of physical perfection in which Adam was before he sinned. When thus restored, they would have the same opportunity of demonstrating loyalty to God that Adam had at first. If they, when recovered, stand the tests of loyalty and obedience, they shall receive God's gift of everlasting life. And they shall receive it through Jesus Christ; for the way was opened up by His sacrificial death, "the Just for the unjust," and their salvation accomplished by His work of Restoration.

Not until recently have Bible students discerned how far our forefathers have been confused in respect to the Divine Plan—through neglect of the Bible for fourteen hundred years. They now see that Jesus and the apostles and prophets taught the world's great time for dealing with the world is yet future under Messiah's Kingdom. The thousand years in which that Kingdom shall rule the world, restraining sin, chastising sinners and helping the willing and obedient back to perfection, is called by St. Peter "Times of Restoration of all things," which God hath spoken by all His holy prophets.—Acts 3:21.

The restorative work of those thousand years will be accomplished by the power of Messiah's Kingdom, and the Bible Church of that Gospel Age will be associated with the Redeemer in the Kingdom, and in the great work of restoring the obedient of mankind to perfection. That thousand years is also called the time of the world's resurrection or raising up—restoration. Bible students now discern that the word re-fection in the Greek signifies more than merely the awakening from death. It signifies the lifting up of the individuals to human perfection—to that which was lost by Adam and redeemed by Jesus' death.

During those Times of Restoration, Satan is to be bound, that he may no longer deceive humanity, as he has been doing with false doctrines, putting light for darkness and darkness for light. On the contrary, the time when he, the Prince of Darkness, is cast down from influence amongst men will be the time when Christ and His Bride, the Church, will become the Sun of Righteousness to the world and scatter all its ignorance and superstition. (Matthew 13:43.) Respecting that time the Bible assures us that all the sin-blinded eyes shall be unstopped, and the true Message of God's Love shall be made known, and "the knowledge of the glory of the Lord shall fill the whole earth."

God has a special plan and a special salvation for the Church. He desires that a Church shall consist of a very special class. He has issued a special call therefor, and has prescribed special terms or conditions for members of this class.

Who will be accepted as members of the Bride, the Lamb's Wife, must have the same spirit, mind or disposition that Jesus had. Did He delight to do the Father's will? So must His followers. Was He willing to be obedient to the Father's will to the extent of sacrificing earthly pleasures and advantages? And to the extent of death? So must His followers walk in His steps. He has set them an example, looking unto Jesus, the Author and Finisher of their faith. The invitation to these is that if they suffer with Christ they may also reign with Him, share His nature and glory and honor. They are advised from the first that the footsteps of Jesus are the way of the cross.

These disciples of Jesus in the present Age are figuratively styled "soldiers of the cross," and Jesus is declared to be the Captain of their salvation, leading them on through victories to glory. Their battle in some respects is the same as the world will have in the next Age, only more intense, more concentrated. The world will have a thousand years in which to fight and win. The little of the Church as a whole is more than eighteen centuries long, but each individual share is much shorter. The coming Age will be the world's time for gaining a victory and escaping from the condemnation, the imperfection, that came upon all the race through Adam's sin.

We are not to think of those whom God accepts as the Church as being different by nature from the remainder of mankind. On the contrary, we are particularly informed that we were born "children of wrath, even as others." But this special class of the Church is not a new creation, nor a new race, nor a new nation, nor a new people, nor a new family, nor a new tribe, nor a new clan, nor a new generation, nor a new age, nor a new time, nor a new place, nor a new world, nor a new universe, nor a new system, nor a new order, nor a new law, nor a new rule, nor a new principle, nor a new doctrine, nor a new teaching, nor The masquerade ball tomorrow night promises to be a success. Of course most of the young folks say they will remain at home, but nevertheless are busy making costumes and many very suspicious looking parcels have been arriving from the city.

More than a week ago Walter Galately had the misfortune to be thrown from his wagon as it jolted into a deep rut in the road and landed between his horses. He was fortunate, however, to escape with an injured side, a few scratches, and a bruised leg, caused by one of the horses stepping on him. He is able to be about town now, but it will be quite a while before he will continue his work again.

The Gleichen Bachelors are now busy preparing for their third annual ball and have set the date for Friday evening, December 5th. This ball has now become to be looked upon as the society event of the season in Gleichen and each year it is proving more popular. Like all such undertakings there is plenty of hard work and difficulties to be overcome in carrying a dance of this magnitude on, but our bachelors have the stamina required to overcome these and to go in for even greater things each succeeding year. Their determination is to be admired and all right thinking people will give them credit for it and for their generous hospitality.
